Laminates add dimensions to several visual and functional décor requirements. In their abode, designer duo Milan and Mehul Manek have explored a multitude ways to benefit from this wonder material.

Described as the "Blessing of God", this lavish apartment exudes warmth in its every nook. Interplay of light-coloured flooring in Italian finish and contrasting wallpaper dominates the living room setting. Curtains in a darker tint break the monotony here. A temple and a dining area enhance the overall look of the space. "We introduced the temple in the left corner of the living room, so that it instantly instils anyone entering the apartment with a feeling of divinity," explains Mehul.

The kitchen sports two platforms – one for service
